About WINIR

Officially launched in October 2013, WINIR is a global network that brings together researchers from multiple academic disciplines to study the nature, function, evolution, and impact of institutions. WINIR places institutions at the centre of its research. WINIR's primary emphasis is on those institutions and organisations that deeply affect the production and distribution of wealth and the means of human well-being.

WINIR accommodates a broad conception of institutions as systems of functioning social rules. There are other varying definitions, but generally the idea of rules – involving rule-making and rule-following – is central. WINIR thus focuses on the making, following, contestation and evolution of social rules. Systems of rules can create regularities of behaviour, and enable, frame, constrain, expand or disrupt human cognition and action.

WINIR is devoted to the study of entities and actors including firms, states, markets, money, households, and other vital institutions and organisations that effect the production and distribution of wealth. It welcomes contributions from all academic disciplines and all schools of thought that can contribute to our understanding of these institutions and organisations.

These disciplines include anthropology, economics, geography, history, law, management, philosophy, politics, psychology and sociology. WINIR aims to create fruitful and constructive dialogue between these disciplines on institutional themes, and to try to develop a cross-disciplinary consensus on some key issues.

WINIR is also interested in the history and comparison of institutional thought, as it has evolved in different ways in several disciplines, including within the various “institutionalisms” that are found in economics, politics and sociology.

Also of vital importance are developments and comparisons of methodologies of institutional research, invoking data appraisal, historical insight, statistical technique and philosophical evaluation.

Leading pioneers of institutional research are Honorary Presidents of WINIR:

Daron Acemoglu (MIT), Howard E. Aldrich (North Carolina), Masahiko Aoki† (Stanford), Peter J. Boettke (George Mason), Paul J. DiMaggio (Princeton), Peter B. The WINIR SQC reports to the WINIR Council. The WINIR SQC currently comprises eight members representing five disciplines:

Elinor Ostrom Prize

The Elinor Ostrom Prize has been established in honour of the late Nobel laureate Elinor Ostrom (1933-2012), who was an enormously creative scholar and an outstanding pioneer of the interdisciplinary field of institutional research. Her most famous work focused on the problem of managing and maintaining common-pool resources, but she also applied her ideas to problems of political governance and climate change. Her theoretical work on rules is of paramount importance. In her last decade she became increasingly interested in how rule-systems (or institutions) evolve. Elinor Ostrom's articles published in JOIE are among the journal's most-cited papers. A prize of £1000, funded by Millennium Economics Ltd., (the owner of JOIE), is awarded each year for the best full-length article published in JOIE in the preceding calendar year.

2019 Ostrom Prize

For the 2019 Ostrom Prize the panel of experts, comprising Elodie Bertrand, Federica Carugati, Christopher Coyne, David Dequech and Thrainn Eggertsson., considered all full-length articles published in JOIE in 2018, and shortlisted the following four papers:

Robbert Maseland, "Is Colonialism History? The Declining Impact of Colonial Legacies on AFRICAN Institutional and Economic Development", JOIE 14(2): 258-287.

Dácil Juif and Ewout Frankema, "From Coercion to Compensation: Institutional Responses to Labour Scarcity in the Central African Copperbelt", JOIE 14(2): 313-343.

Colin Harris, "Institutional Solutions to Free-Riding in Peer-to-Peer Networks: A Case Study of Online Pirate Communities" JOIE 14(5): 901-924.

Joel Mokyr, "Bottom-Up or Top-Down? The Origins of the Industrial Revolution" JOIE 14(6): 1003-1024.

The winner of the 2019 Elinor Ostrom Prize will receive the award at the conference dinner.

Conference theme

The rise of new growth poles and the emergence of new global institutional dynamics are challenging the old divide between the developed and developing world. At the same time as a majority of the world population have experienced improved living standards, there seems to be rising popular discontent with globalization as economic inequalities both between and within nations are rising throughout most of the world.

As many now question whether globalization is compatible with inclusive societies, we must ask what lessons may be drawn from previous waves of globalization. What can be learned from the institutional changes involved in terms of both economic development and the distribution of the effects of globalization on the standards of living and capabilities of people? We must also ask if inclusive institutional strategies such as a renewed role of the welfare state can play an active role in contemporary societies.

Keynote speakers

The keynote speakers are three renowned scholars with a research focus on the role of institutions in both past and present societies, Sheilagh Ogilvie, Bo Rothstein and John Wallis.

Sheilagh Ogilvie grew up in the western Canadian city of Calgary, but has since lived in Scotland, Germany, England, the USA and the Czech Republic. She is currently based in the UK, where she is Professor of Economic History at Cambridge University and a Fellow of the British Academy. She explores the lives of ordinary people in the past and tries to explain how poor economies get richer and improve human well-being. She holds degrees from the University of St Andrews (1979), Cambridge (1985), and Chicago (1992), and has directed a number of major research projects. She has published on institutions and economic development, the economics of guilds, merchants, rural communities, serfdom, human capital, consumption, retailing, occupational structure, demography, proto-industry, banking, female labour force participation, regulation, the growth of the state, and social capital. She is the winner of the Gyorgy Ranki Prize (1999), the Anton Gindeley Prize (2004), the René Kuczynski Prize (2004), and the Stanley Z. Pech Prize (2008). Her new book, The European Guilds: An Economic Analysis, was published March 2019.
