Call for Papers
5th International Witten Conference on Institutional Change

THE ECONOMICS, POLITICS, AND PHILOSOPHY OF ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND BIG DATA: INSTITUTIONS MATTER!

14 & 15 March 2019 at Witten/Herdecke University, Germany.

Keynote speakers:
- Jeroen van den Hoven, Delft University of Technology
- Matthijs Michiel Maas, University of Copenhagen (tbc)
- Len Shackleton, University of Buckingham (tbc)

Artificial intelligence and big data will not only have a major impact on living conditions, labour, production and economic development. They also challenge political decision-makers to set up adequately designed institutions to prevent unwanted consequences of technological developments.

Our focus is bringing together scholars interested in interdisciplinary work on the institutional framework necessary for AI. The 5th WIWA Conference thus provides a platform for discussion about economic, political, psychological, and ethical challenges which are brought up by recent technological changes.

We invite papers from economics, politics, ethics, psychology, philosophy, and other relevant social sciences that deal – for example – with

- regulation and governance issues of AI companies and applications,
- labour market effects of AI and big data,
- the impact of AI on growth and development,
- ethical questions of using AI technologies,
- legal aspects, e.g. liability rules for AI applications,
- international competition of AI regulations.
